

PSELF ROADMAP

The Strategic Plan for French-Language Education (PSELF) is a vision of French-language education in a minority context that is structured around three strategic priorities. They are part of the stages of an education continuum that includes early childhood, elementary and secondary school, post-secondary education and lifelong learning.

The PSELF is based on the concept of the civic community school, aimed at redefining the relationship between community and school: success, a continuum of learning, and social, cultural and community commitment.

SUCCESS : MINE, YOURS AND OURS

It is the success of learners of all ages, of institutions that provide French-language learning spaces, and of communities.

STRATEGIC PRIORITIES

IDENTITY BUILDING

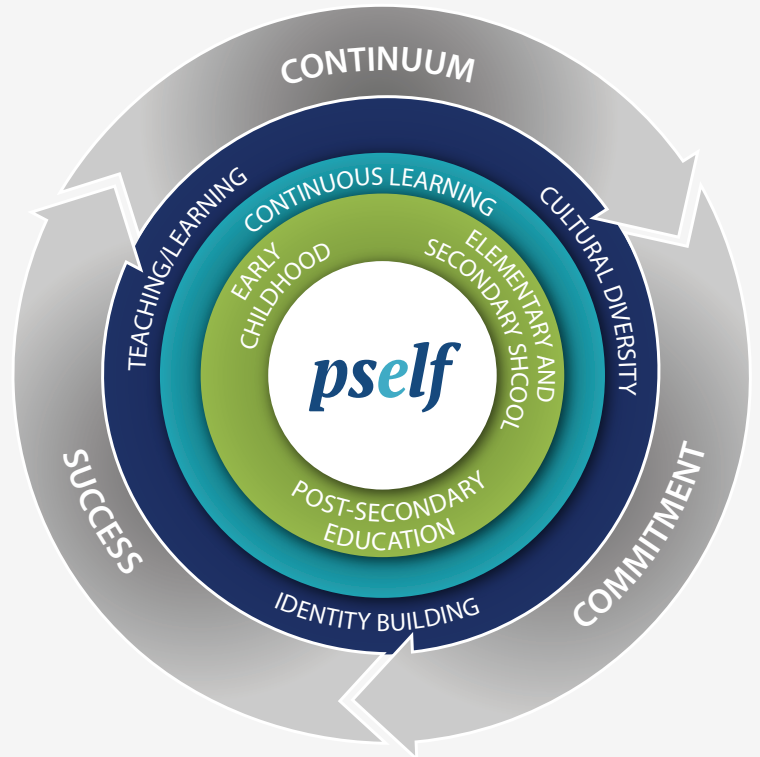

Create optimal opportunities for building an individual and collective Francophone identity

TEACHING/LEARNING

Create learning spaces through a context of linguistic, cultural and civic socialization

CULTURAL DIVERSITY

Create learning environments that value and facilitate the inclusion and integration of members of Francophone immigrant communities

CONTINUUM : LIFELONG LEARNING

Success lies in a continuum of learning that begins in early childhood and continues throughout one's entire life. Creating this space for learning requires community-wide awareness.

STAGES OF THE CONTINUUM

EARLY CHILDHOOD

Improve the quality of and access to early childhood programs and services in French

ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOL

Update the dual mandate of French-language schools by applying the principles of specificity, vitality and added value

POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION

Promote and facilitate the transition of students from French-language secondary schools to post-secondary education in French

CONTINUOUS LEARNING

Provide ongoing learning opportunities that foster pride in the French language and commitment to the Francophonie

TURNING COMMITMENT INTO ACTION

All the players, in an intersectoral approach, are critically and democratically committed to French-language education, to the dissemination of culture and, as a result, to the vitality of their community.
